

Stellenbosch Street Soirees swing

THE STELLENBOSCH Street Soirees season has officially opened, with the bimonthly parties bringing together wine farms, restaurants, locals and visitors in the vibrant streets of the City of Oaks.

Stellenbosch Street Soirees take place every second and last Wednesday of the month (except for December 28).

Drostdy Street is closed to traffic between 6pm and 8pm so a hip crowd can immerse themselves in the food and wine culture of this forever young town, with live music adding to the cool and casual vibe.

Buy a glass for R70 and you can taste all the wines you want. Gourmet snacks and delicious street food is provided by local eateries.

There are different vendors and cellars represented at each event so you can never say if you've been to one, you've been to them all.

"Stellenbosch has a recipe for living that is hard to resist or come Warmer weather and longer days echo the return of the ever-popular Stellenbosch Street Soirees.

by. With these street parties we offer visitors a taste of our way of life through quality wines, delicious bites and live music.

"I cannot imagine a better way to spend a balmy summer's evening, let alone better company to share it with," says Elmarie Rabe, manager of the Stellenbosch Wine Routes.

The next soiree is on Wednesday. Dates for the rest of the season are: December 14, January 11 and 25, February 8 and 22, March 8 and 22.
